Carina Cellars is proud to welcome photographer George Wright to the tasting room for the first show in their spring exhibitions. Wright has been photographing the landscape of the Santa Ynez Valley for many years. His unique style plays on the interchange of light, color, water and reflections. The beautiful Santa Ynez Valley, has inspired him to capture images of the amazing flower fields, wineries and other notable landscapes of this region.

Wright's work continues to be featured at Los Olivos Days, Spring Arts and the Lompoc Flower Festival. His photography is also often exhibited or on permanent display, at Santa Ynez Valley wineries and restaurants. Recently his photography was selected for permanent installation at the new, state of the art, Lompoc Valley Community Hospital. For more information about Wright's work or to view some of his images visit www.photosgeorge.com.
