Artwork by Suzanne Huska
Santa Ynez Valley Landscapes
Exhibition Dates: December 1, 2008-January 31, 2009
Artist Reception: Saturday December 6, from 5:30-7pm

Carina Cellars welcomes Santa Ynez Valley artist Suzanne Huska to her first art show at the Carina Cellars Tasting Room. Originally from the Texas Panhandle, Huska finished high school in Anchorage, Alaska where her family moved in 1963. Always ready to paint or travel she chose to study art at the University of the Americas in Mexico City, and spent the next 20 years there raising her children and becoming an English teacher at her children's school. Still longing to develop her art, Huska eventually moved to Cabo San Lucas, and there painted her first oil paintings of Diego Rivera-style portraits of women.

Huska moved back to California in 1999, and settled in Santa Ynez, where she has enjoyed painting the beautiful valley with its wonderful oaks, local barns, windmills, old schools and churches. An extra feature in most of her oil paintings is that there are several hidden nude ladies (try to find them!) Each of her paintings tell stories of good feelings and warm days with the golden yellows of the valley, the deep greens of the oaks, the cerulean blue skies and of course graced with her lovely ladies who help her landscapes make you smile.

Please join us for our opening reception Saturday December 6 from 5:30-7PM at the Carina Cellars Tasting Room, 2900 Grand Avenue in Los Olivos.
